

Board of Directors

Committed to the credit union philosophy of “people helping people,” the directors of Neighborhood Credit Union serve as unpaid volunteers. Elected to three-year terms, the directors are charged with setting the credit union's policies and ensuring the best interests of its member/owners.

Gerald Townsend - Chairman; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1967; board member since 1993; 37-year United States Postal Service veteran, retiring in 2002 as Postmaster for the City of Mt. Pleasant.

Carolyn Mathis - Vice-Chairman; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1972; board member 2001; 37-year United States Postal Service veteran who retired as Postmaster for the City of Duncanville. Credit Union National Association awards: the Filene Award (2004).

Dwayne Boozer – Secretary/Treasurer; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1970; board member since 1988; 34-year United States Postal Service veteran and retiree; Credit Union National Association awards: the Filene Award (1990), the Raiffeisen Award (1993), and the Technology Award (2003).

Dwain Woodard – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1963; board member since 1979; 33-year United States Postal Service veteran, retiring in 1990 as a manager of mailing requirements.

David Davis – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1953; board member since 1969; 40-year United States Postal Service veteran, retiring in 1992 as Postmaster for the City of Lewisville.

Calvin Phillips – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1950; board member since 1996; former president and CEO (1961-1988); former chairman of the Texas Credit Union Commission and Texas Credit Union League.

Lisa Salas – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1980; board member since 1996; 25-year United States Postal Service veteran, currently serving as a real estate specialist for the Southwest Area Facilities Service Office.

Jimmy Slayton – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1970; board member since 1976; former board chairman; 30-year United States Postal Service veteran, retiring in 1998 as a real estate specialist.

Arthur Young – Director; Neighborhood Credit Union member since 1963; board member since 1981; 39-year United States Postal Service veteran, retiring in 1997 as Postmaster for the City of Richardson. Credit Union National Association Awards: the Filene Award (1990), the Raiffeisen Award (1993), and the Bergengren Award (1995).